Grace & Truth Counsel

Biblical wisdom. Practical tools. Spirit-led care.

Feature Sheet & Quick Instructions

Grace & Truth Counsel is a support tool for biblical counselors. It offers Scripture, reflection, sample dialogue, homework, and printable session forms. It is meant to be used alongside Scripture, prayer, the local church, and wise supervision. It is not a substitute for personal study or formal training.

What is inside

Self-Assessment	A short reflection on counselor challenges. It suggests Growth Modules.
Growth Modules	Burnout, listening, slow change, session process, supervision, heart care, criticism, and boundaries. Each has a self-check, weekly practice suggestions, and related links.
Counseling Issues	Biblical principles, Scripture, sample dialogue, homework, and further reading for common struggles, including anxiety, depression, anger, marriage conflict, grief, forgiveness, parenting and parental alienation, fear of man, and church hurt.
Counselor Toolkit	Fillable session checklist, homework template, referral notes, session notes, and a personal heart check. Print or save as PDF with what you typed.
Session tools	From any issue, open a Session Prep Sheet or build a homework page for the counselee.
Scripture and Prayer	A Scripture library and a prayer guide. References link to the ESV. Hover a reference to read the verse.
Your notes	Save notes in this browser, download a named file, and import it later on the same page. Clear when you are done.
Works offline	Install it on a phone or computer. Once opened online, the pages and your files work without a connection.

Why a biblical counselor should use it

It starts with Scripture.

Each issue has passages, principles, and a way to apply them. References open in the ESV. The aim is to help a person see their struggle in light of Christ.

It respects the counselor’s convictions.

Issues use familiar names so they are easy to find, but the site does not treat the DSM as the explanation. The counsel is about sin, suffering, the heart, and the gospel.

It saves preparation time.

A counselor can open an issue and have principles, sample dialogue, homework, and a Session Prep Sheet ready. Toolkit forms can be filled, printed, and used in the session.

It cares for the counselor.

The Growth Modules address burnout, listening, slow change, boundaries, criticism, and the counselor's own heart.

It keeps notes private.

Notes stay in the browser or in a file the counselor names and stores. They are not kept on the website. A note from one page cannot be loaded into another.

It is there when the connection is not.

Once installed and opened online, the pages work offline. The ESV hover and book links still need the internet. The counsel and the forms do not.

It does not replace Scripture, prayer, the local church, supervision, or training. It helps a counselor show up prepared, stay faithful to the text, and leave the person with one clear step.

How to use it

1. Open the site

Go to graceandtruthcounsel.com. Use the header to move between Home, Assessment, Modules, Toolkit, Issues, Scripture, Prayer, and Stuck.

2. Start where you need to

Take the Self-Assessment for personal reflection, open a Growth Module for your own care, or search Counseling Issues for a struggle.

3. Prepare a session

Open an issue. Read the principles, Scripture, and dialogue. Use Session Prep Sheet for a one-page printout, or Homework Builder to choose items for the counselee.

4. Use a form

Open the Toolkit and choose a form. Type in the fields. Print or save as PDF. The printout includes the logo, the site name, and what you entered.

5. Keep your notes

Save keeps notes in this browser only. Download asks for a name and saves a dated file on your device. Import loads a file, but only on the page it was saved from. Clear removes the notes and form fields on that page.

6. Install it

In Chrome, use the install icon in the address bar, or Add to Home Screen on a phone. Open it once while online. After that, the pages open without internet. ESV hover and book links still need a connection.
